OPEN AT NIGHTS.

Attractive Program Arranged by the Bourbon Fair Management for Each Night During the Fair

Everything is hustle and bustle at the grounds or the Bourbon County Agricultural Society today for the big event which will continue the entire week.

The wiring of the grounds is completed and myriads of incandescent lights will make the grounds at night as bright as day for the Midway which will be given every night during the week.

One of the best attractions ever seen at a fair in Central Kentucky will be the Flying Moors, fresh from the State Fair at Des Moines, Iowa. Two brothers and two sisters compose the party of aerial artists, who, in mid air, perform many new and novel feats that border on something sensational. From one support to another they turn single and double somersaults that are thrilling and never fail to please their audiences.

Edna Mae, the great show mare of Matt Cohen, heads the string of horses that arrived yesterday morning, and with the stables of Matlack & Shropshire, A. G. Jones, Smiley & Son, Collins & Redmon, and many others, the exhibition of saddle and harness horses is expected to eclipse any former exhibition of the fair.

The amphitheatre, buildings, fences and band stand have received a coat of whitewash and paint, and with every weed felled with mower and scythe, the grounds present a most attractive appearance. With a doing away of the three judge's system, and the adopting of a rule of one judge to officiate in each ring, the management has struck a popular chord with horsemen. The former usage resulted in a number of horsemen declining to exhibit their stock, notably Matt Cohen, and others, all of whom are here this week with horses that have taken ribbons all over the country.

The Elemendorf herd of Shorthorns, the herds of Abram Renick of Clark, Joe Hall of Bourbon, and a prize herd from Shelby county, which compose the greatest display of pure bred beef and dairy cattle ever seen at a fair in Central Kentucky. The exhibit opens this morning, the first day of the fair, followed by a big pony display in the afternoon. Don't forget the Midway tonight. Admission at the gate free.

Strike Settled.

The cloakmakers' strike, one of the greatest industrial disturbances in the history of America labor, was settled Friday night. Seventy thousand garment workers, who have been idle for nine weeks, will shortly return to work. The agreement signed abolishes the unsanitary "sweat shops."

The Bourbon Fair Begins Today.

This morning the gates of the Bourbon fair grounds will be thrown open and the sixty-fourth annual exhibit of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society will be on in all its glory. With the promise of clear skies and from the interest manifested by the general public in the feature event of Bourbon county it should enjoy an auspicious opening.

The stock exhibit at the fair this year gives every promise of being the most attractive in the history of fairs in the South.

The offering in free attractions promises to eclipse any previous efforts of the society. The Flying Moors will give daily performances of one of the most wonderful feats ever put before the public. The Midway consists of some of the best attractions to be had. The program for today is as follows:

Better Agricultural Methods!

A lot of nonsense is being talked and written by the Republican newspapers about "better agricultural methods." Self-interest, of course, prompts every farmer to do everything that he can to get the best crops possible, and no incentive is stronger than self-interest. There are many things that farmers would like to do that events prevent them doing, and there are things which they do that they wish they had left undone. It is so in every business and, with every one. If the hay had not been cut this morning, the rain would not have spoiled it; but who is wise enough to tell what the fickle weather will be? If it had not rained for weeks in the spring, the cotton and the corn would not have been so weedy; it would have been possible to work it in season, instead of having to wait until other crops needed attention. If it had not been for the drought the crops would have been better; but the farmer isn't a rain-maker and has to accept the weather that nature provides.

When the people get sick of Republican policies and corrupt misrule, some smart Aleck blames it on the farmers, and "the organs" begin to pipe in the same tune and demand "better agricultural methods."

When insurgents insurge, the same "organs" blame it on the farmers and insist that they have prepared thorough Republican legislation, although they admit the tariff should have been "more scientific."

Some railroad magnate has a model farm where everything that he raises costs twice what it is worth, and even the eggs cost one dollar per dozen, and he thinks that the farmers should follow his example of "intensive farming." The Agricultural Department experts advise the farmers how to improve their soil and stock, but if their advice was followed the farmers would need the Treasury of the United States to draw upon and then require an urgency deficiency appropriation, as the "experts" often do to make both ends meet.

If the farmers' critics would try their hand at farming, with the present lack of labor and not very efficient at that, they would not carp so much. It is dollars to doughnuts they would admit failure, blame it on the land or the weather, and then resume their old occupation of scribbling about what they don't know about farming.

The Agricultural Department has just discovered that the farmers ought to raise more potatoes to the acre, and has sent experts to Europe to find out how to do it. What they will learn will be that the climate is better than here for that sort of crop, and any Pennsylvania Dutchman could have told them so much without it costing a dollar, when they will spend thousands.

Other countries are sending experts here to discover how we grow cotton, and why it can't be grown as well or better in Africa, Asia or South America. It is probably a question of climate, for the darkey and the old mule can surely be duplicated in some fashion and there is no great secret in their manure.

If you have tried farming you will know that it is no picnic, and that through Republican policies all that you have to buy is at trust prices, and for all that you have to sell you must take what some combine will pay. Yes it is not all fun being a farmer nor do they all ride in automobiles through the Republican metropolitan organs and the funny supplements would try and make us believe that the farmers are bigger fools than are other mortals.

Help the Country Editor.

Writing the personal and society items for a country paper often involves a greater amount of work than one imagines. Frequently people have visitors but do not tell us about them. Failing to see their names in the paper they are offended and think we are guilty of willful omission. The personal items in no way reflect the opinion of the paper. They are the real news feature; consequently an editor never lets his opinions or likes or dislikes have anything to do with his "personal list." Friends and readers can help make these items interesting and newsy, if they only will. Won't you help us?

Nine Appointments Open.

The Naval Department Friday gave Naval Academy statistics which show that out of 907 midshipmen there are 400 vacancies. There will be opportunities for senators and representatives to make appointments for the new fourth class. Of 583 candidates recently examined only 199 passed. Vacancies at Annapolis to be filled from Kentucky are as follows:
By Senators Paynter and Bradley, one each. From the First Congressional district two and from the Second, Third, fifth, Sixth and Tenth, one each.

"I was unconscious for three days, and after that I would have fainting spells, dizziness, nervousness, sick headache, heart palpitation and many strange feelings. A Crown of Love

By H. SANBORNE BROWN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

The reigning sovereign of Atruria, Prince Carl, had a son, Oluf. A neighboring principality—Essengen—had lost its rulers in the male line, none remaining except the Princess Clothilde and her younger sister Minna. Clothilde, who occupied the throne, being a very feminine woman, was averse to the duties of sovereignty. She would have abdicated in favor of her sister, but Minna had no more desire to rule than Clothilde. Indeed, the people of Essengen were a turbulent lot who required the strong hand of a man to govern them and made no secret of their contempt for a sovereign queen.

There was every reason why the two contiguous principalities should be joined under one head. Negotiations to that effect were entered upon between Prince Carl on the one side and the nobles of Essengen on the other. It was proposed that Prince Oluf should marry the Princess Clothilde, the two to be prince and princess of the united principalities. After many demands and concessions a compact was made, and nothing remained but the consent of the two parties most especially concerned—Prince Oluf and Princess Clothilde. Prince Oluf visited the princess, and, as luck would have it, she fell desperately in love with him.

One of the points claimed by the princess' subjects was that she should be sovereign equally with the prince, her husband, for at the time of the nuptials Prince Carl was to abdicate in favor of his son. There was so much feeling among the people of Essengen that in order to satisfy them one of Clothilde's ministers suggested that she wear the iron crown of the sovereign on her head at all public functions. The crown being heavy, a light one was made, and the princess wore it nearly all the while.

Great preparations were made for the wedding, which was to take place at the capital of Essengen, after which the bride couple were to take up their residence in Atruria. The princess was so deeply in love with Oluf that she desired his presence most of the time in Essengen. This was not pleasing to the Princess Minna, who had conceived a great dislike for the prince. Indeed, she gave out to those about her that she would be glad when the couple were married, since then they would remove to Atruria and she would no longer be troubled with the presence of a very disagreeable man.

Shortly before the nuptials were to take place the Princess Clothilde fell ill. There was at the time so much feeling on the part of her people as to her united sovereignty with the prince, who was to be her husband, that, although she was an invalid, her ministers insisted on her still wearing the iron crown. On one occasion when she had left it off a citizen of influence who opposed the union of the principalities was admitted to see her and as soon as he had left the palace attempted to foment a revolution on the ground that the princess had left off the crown.

Princess Clothilde grew worse and died, but a few days before the appointed marriage. Prince Carl, his son, Prince Oluf, the Atrurians and many Essengens were bitterly disappointed that the prospective union of the two countries had thus fallen through. Prince Oluf, however, who had taken as much liking to Princess Minna as she had taken dislike to him—indeed, it was said that had she been sovereign she would have been his choice—proposed that all that had been arranged should be carried out, Minna to become his wife instead of Clothilde.

The proposition was acceded to by the union party of Essengen, but all expected that Minna even for reasons of state would not marry a man she so cordially disliked. However, the council went to her in a body, represented to her the importance of the union of the two countries and proposed that she become the wife of the man who was to have married her sister.

She flatly refused. Then commenced a struggle on the part of the unionists of Essengen. Prince Carl and especially Prince Oluf to induce her to change her mind. Prince Oluf, who had been in love with her instead of her sister from the start, was wild with disappointment. He wooed her with delicacy, but did not succeed in changing her antipathy for him. But what he could not bring about was in part effected by the princess' ministers. Finally on their representation that it was her duty to sacrifice herself for her people's good she consented to the marriage.

As soon as the fact was given out to the people the prime minister advised the princess to wear the iron crown.

And now a strange thing happened. Prince Oluf was advised that the princess desired to see him. He entered gloomily from the fact of a dislike on the part of the woman he loved that he had not been able to conquer. What was his surprise when the princess put her arms lovingly around his neck and her head dropped on his shoulder.

She married not only for reasons of state, but for love.

Recently experiments in Paris by scientists have established the fact that a metal circlet worn on the head of a person suffering from hysteria if afterward placed on the head of another person will produce the same effect as in the first instance.

May we infer that in this instance it produced the same love?

FORESTRY DISPLAYS AT APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION

Building, Typical of This Great Resource and Industry of the South, Will Present Unprecedented Exhibits.

Among the many exhibits of rare educational as well as commercial value to be presented at the Appalachian exposition in Knoxville, Tenn., September 12 to October 12 is that of the forestry department. The Appalachian exposition is being presented in behalf of the stimulation of sentiment in favor of forestry conservation in the Appalachian region. Consequently a display of the timbered resources and the industrial possibilities thereof is eminently appropriate at this exposition.

Situated upon a commanding elevation and the most conspicuous rise in the entire exposition grounds, is the Forestry building. It is surrounded by a grove of towering trees, also suggestive of the character of the buildings and the exhibits contained therein. The structure is 70 by 100 feet in size, and is two stories in height. Two tall flag poles rise from its crest, from which float the national and state and exposition colors. The roof of the building projects 12 feet on all sides, and the cornice rests upon tall columns of rustic large hardwood logs, which were cut from forests of the Appalachian range and brought here especially for this building. They portray various hardwoods in the native uncut state. This makes a colonnade of architectural beauty and fitness, surrounding the entire building.

Pyrotechnic Features Will Be Magnificent

Pain's "Battle in the Clouds" a Notable Feature of the Appalachian Exposition.

The pyrotechnic feature of the Appalachian Exposition in Knoxville, Tenn., September 12 to October 12, will be important. Great displays of Pain's peerless pyrotechnic presentations, mighty in their brilliancy, will be given every night during the first week of the exposition. The culminating feature, however, comes the second week of the exposition, when the "Battle in the Clouds," a wonderful story of the day with aerial realism will be presented.

"The Battle in the Clouds" is now being presented nightly in the immense new amphitheater at Luna Park, Cleveland.

Fully three hundred people participate in the stirring episodes, battles pageants and of this big exhibition, the beautiful scenic representation of the city of science together with the airships occupies the entire infield of the race track.

The fascinating and thrilling midsummer night shows of the famous Pain have for twenty-seven years been the one big night attraction at the fashionable Manhattan beach, New York, and also for the same length of time at Alexandria Palace, London. The production to be given at exposition will surpass anything ever seen in an open air amusement line in the country.

The spectator will see before him in the great amphitheater a mimic city of the period A. D. 2000, with its palaces, temples, triumphal arches, wireless telegraph stations knows as "The City of Science."

A fête is being held to celebrate the establishing of communication with Mars. Soldiers parade the streets and children will dance before "King Pyro" and his Queen Electra, rulers of the City of Science, and the greatest acrobatic and novelty acts procurable are presented.

Mars is displeased over the success of the World of Science being able to signal his planet and sends airships to warn the aspiring race to desist in its efforts. To wrest every secret from a reluctant nature, King Pyro defies Mars, and rends his aerial fighting machines to pieces, gives a very graphic science version of the destruction of a city by aerial craft. When the smoke has fairly cleared away above the ill-fated city, the second grand event begins, a gorgeous display of Pain's Manhattan Fireworks terminates the evening's performance.

In this marvelous pyrotechnic program, which is changed nightly, are shown all the latest novelties in fireworks, for which the famous Pain is justly celebrated, both in this country and in Europe. Provision will be made to accommodate 10,000 people.

The acts secured this year for the "Battle in the Clouds" are the largest and best of the vaudeville world. The exhibition of Gene and Marie Aeltzman on the high wire are alone worth a trip of miles to see. The flying Jordons, the Eugene Trio, Baine's Back Bounding Rope, Sudin Osterin with their trick horse and others equally as great furnish the program for the entertainment of the citizens of the City of Science.

CUPS FOR FINE POULTRY.

Several magnificent and very valuable silver cups have been offered as trophies in the poultry show premium list for the Appalachian Exposition in Knoxville, Sept. 12 to Oct. 12. The poultry will be judged by some of the crack poultrymen of the country.

In our Clothes you are assured of the very best in Style, Fit and Finish.

In our line of Clothing we show the best selected patterns, the best fitting, the most stylish models and at prices that are right. We are showing this season all the new models in browns, mottled greys, blues, in fact everything that is new, and the patterns of most of which are controlled exclusively by us.

BASE BALL.

FRIDAY.

Friday afternoon White Park was the scene of the utter downfall of the Colts and they received a thorough whitewashing at the hands of the Bourbonites, in a five-inning contest. Robbins was sent in to oppose the locals, but before the first session was ended he was driven from the mound by the merciless Bourbonites, Vallandigham coming to his rescue, but the McKernan tribe continued the hammering and in the fourth he was forced to retire in favor of Kellogg. Four runs in the fifth and Yancey too the mound. Williams pitched a masterly game allowing but two hits only one of which was clean cut.

Seeing that they were outclassed and outplayed at every point the visitors began to delay the game at the beginning of the fourth inning in the hope that the threatening rain would come to their rescue. A heavy cloud hung in the West, and it was this hope that caused the game to be converted into the greatest and most disgraceful farce exhibitions ever witnessed in Paris.

So disgusted were the spectators that two-thirds of the thousand in attendance left the grounds. Two hundred fans who came over from Lexington expecting to witness a first-class game, were loud in their denunciation of the tactics employed by their home team, and the slovenly game they played.

In the last half of the fifth the Paris players in order to counteract the delay of the game by the visitors would purposely cross the plate in batting and to be called out by Umpire Brady. Several times Brady pulled his watch and warned the visitors that they must play ball, but this had little effect. Score:

Paris.....3 1 3 0 4—11
Lexington.....0 0 0 0 0—0
Batteries—Paris, Williams and Holder; Lexington, Robbins, Vallandigham, Kellogg, Yancey and Keifel. Errors—Lexington 6. Hits—Paris 10; Lexington 2. Earned runs—Paris 5. Two base hits—Kaiser, McKernan. Three base hits—Chapman, Holder. Bases on balls—off Vallandigham 2; off Williams 2. Struck out—by Williams 4. Sacrifice hits—Sinex, McKernan, Williams. Stolen bases—Chapman, Scott. Left on bases—Lexington 4; Paris 2. Hit by pitcher—Keifel, Chapman. Umpire—Brady. Time—1:20.

SATURDAY.

The Lawmakers went down in defeat before the Bourbonites Saturday afternoon in a seven inning contest which was called on account of darkness, with the score standing 5 to 2 in favor of the locals. For two and a third innings the Bourbonites pounded McKernan unmercifully and he was forced to retire in favor of Bohannon. Poole pitched a steady game allowing but five hits. In the third inning Barnett put the ball over the fence into the corn field for a home run. The locals started out with a whirl in the first inning. Kuhlman led off with a single to center but was forced at second on McKernan's grounder to McIlvaine. Kaiser hit safely to center McKernan taking third, scoring on a play to catch Kaiser in his effort to steal. Kaiser was caught between the bases. Goodman doubled and took third on a wild throw. Barnett waited and walked and Scott scored Goodman on an infield hit.

The locals added three in the third. McKernan opened with a corking drive to left for two bases, took third on Kaiser's sacrifice and scored on Goodman's single. Barnett put the ball over the left field fence circling the bases and sending Goodman over the rubber ahead of him. Scott walked and Chapman singled to left. Bohannon then took the mound for the Lawmakers and the next two up hit into outs.

The Lawmakers put their first run over in the fourth. Angemeier led off with a two-bagger. Bohannon fled to Goodman and Hoch grounded to Scott who threw the ball to third to retire Angemeier. Umpire Bohannon did not see the play and declared the runners safe. Seeback followed with a long fly to center on which Angemeier scored. In the sixth they added another. Beard took life on Chapman's error. Angemeier hit safely for the third time. Bohannon fled to McKernan and Hoch fanned. Seeback hit to right scoring Beard.

Paris added another in the seventh. Kaiser walked and Goodman hit to right Barnett forced Kaiser at third on a grounder to Bohannon. Scott singled to right scoring Goodman from second. After three Senators had been retired in the eighth inning Umpire Bohannon called the game on account of darkness. Score:

Paris.....2 0 3 0 0 1—6
Frankfort.....0 0 1 0 1 0—2

Time—2:05. Umpire Bohannon.

SUNDAY.

Sunday afternoon at White Park Paris took both games from Maysville, both being shutouts, the first game resulting 10 to 0, and the second which was called in the fifth on account of rain the score stood 3 to 0. Paris hit the ball good and hard. In the first game she piled up hits to the number of seventeen and in the second pounded out 10. Winchell officiated in both contests for the locals while Ware and Stone were used by the visitors. Scores:

Address to the Tobacco Growers

Representative A. O. Stanley of Henderson, addressed a large crowd of tobacco growers at the court house in Paris Friday afternoon, in the interest of the Burley pool. Representative Stanley employed very forcible illustrations in urging the pooling of the crop in Bourbon and declared the failure of the organization this year would be a common calamity. Ward Headley also delivered a strong argument, basing his remarks upon the report that the Trust had bought four hundred acres of tobacco in Bourbon county.

THE ANDORRANS.

All the Inhabitants of the Little Republic Are Related.

The inhabitants of Andorra, the little republic which is wedged in between France and Spain and which has existed since the year 782, are very proud of their blue blood and ancient lineage. In their eyes a gavage (foreigner) of any description or nationality is merely an inferior being, a sort of mushroom upstart in comparison with themselves. During 1,200 years they have continually married and intermarried to such an extent that at present all the inhabitants are practically cousins, yet, strange to say, neither their physical, mental nor moral qualities seem to have suffered. Both sexes are strong limbed, broad shouldered, bright eyed, hardy and long lived, retaining their hair and their teeth to a green old age. They are also keen witted and intelligent, alert and happy hearted, sober, industrious, hospitable and devout. The feminine Andorran has not a vestige of coquetry about her. She is just the female pure and simple. She is a thrifty housewife, a helpmate to her husband in the most literal sense of the term—ready and able to trudge off across mountain and valley beside him with a pack of smuggled goods on her back in case of need.—Wide World Magazine.

PROMOTED THE COOK.

An Error Made Him a Professor of History in Russia.

Some years ago the minister of education in St. Petersburg was appealed to by telegraph for a cook, to be hurried to Moscow. The operator got his dashes and dots mixed, but by next train a man arrived and was ceremoniously conducted to the university, where he was introduced to the assembled faculty and students as the new professor in history.

The unhappy fellow protested that, while he might be a professor of pots and pans, he knew nothing about history. But in Russian official life it is harder far to correct an error than to make one, so for several years the cook has held his professorship, though no one attends his lectures.

Another laughable story comes from the Suwalki school for boys. A door-keeper there who could scarcely read or write had grown so untidy and slow that he was no longer useful, but as the headmaster did not want to set him adrift he promoted him to a teacher's post and had him transferred to a distant school. He, too, will be a professor some day.—Moscow Letter in New York World.

Didn't Want It Flattened.

This story is told of Jerome K. Jerome, the humorist. Returning from abroad one time, he fell into good company, with the exception of one man, who was what is known as "a walking encyclopedia." This man persisted in giving all sorts of information, much to the annoyance of Mr. Jerome and others. One morning, as the travelers leaned over the rail, admiring the rising sun, the man with the information turned to them and said almost solemnly:

"Gentlemen, if the earth were flattened out the sea would be two miles deep over the whole world."

Mr. Jerome turned around, seemingly stunned. Then he grew indignant, and, walking over to the other man, he said, shaking his finger menacingly: "Look here, man, if you catch any fellow trying to flatten out the earth shoot him on the spot. I can't swim."—Philadelphia Times.

London's Town Hall.

The guildhall is an important public building in London, which may be regarded as the town hall, and is the place of assembly of several courts, as the court of common council, the court of aldermen, the chamberlain's court and a police court presided over by one of the aldermen. The construction of the building was begun in 1411. It was partially destroyed in the great fire of 1666, but was soon restored, and in 1789 it was altered to its present form. The hall proper is 153 feet in length, 48 in breadth and 55 in height. It has been famous for centuries for the magnificence of its civic feasts. The first time it was used for this purpose was in 1500, when Sir John Shaw, goldsmith, who had been knighted on the field of Bosworth, first gave here the lord mayor's feast.

The Miserable Villain.

Low Comedian—After all these years Eggbert has at last succeeded in making a bit with the audience. Soubrette—So? How does he do it? Low Comedian—You know he has always played villain roles. Soubrette—Yes. Low Comedian—Well, in the last act of a new play the author allows him to repent and say, "I've been a miserable villain." That confession invariably brings down the house.—Boston Post.

A Safe Lead.

"I hear Lem Boggs Sundayed with ye, deacon?" "Ya'as." "Goin' to lose yer darter, eh?" "I reckon, but not to Lem. Zeb Higgs Mondayed, Tuesdayed, Wednesdayed and Thursdayed with us. I judge Zeb is the lucky man."—Success Magazine.

No Danger of That.

Mrs. Stubbs—John, no true man will smoke up his wife's curtains. Mr. Stubbs—I should say not. Anybody that smokes curtains would be a freak. I prefer cigars.—Chicago News.

Those who can command themselves command others.—Hazlitt.

The books to be placed and labeled as such, with the name of author or publisher who donates. With this in view, the committee is soliciting books which are recognized as southern literature. These books to be on exhibit in the Woman's building during the Appalachian exposition.

The library solicits a loan exhibit of old, new, rare and valuable books from private or public libraries and also asks for loan exhibits from publishers.

Books from publishers will be marked with their name, address and the state they represent.

A loving cup will be given for the best selection from a private library.

A loving cup will also be given the publisher who donates the largest number of books to the Appalachian library.

WALTER A. WOOD MOWERS

Are Different From All Others

When the late Walter A. Wood built his first mower in 1862 it was upon a principle entirely different from any other. That same principle today distinguishes our mowers from all others. It is the "floating frame" described so fully in our catalog. All manufacturers of mowers admit that the "direct under-draft" principle is the correct one—but they can't use it because genuine under-draft is possible only with the "floating frame" construction which is exclusive to Walter A. Wood Mowers. We feel justified in asserting that our mowers are: the easiest running; lightest draft; handiest to operate; least expensive to keep in repair and longest lived. The mower that leads on these points is the mower it will pay the farmer to buy. There are many other good points fully illustrated and described in our Catalog. Write for it today.

STOCK, CROP AND FARM NOTES
—Thomas C. Ows of Bourbon county, bought 114 acres of the William Byrd farm, on Salt creek in Boyle county, west of Owingsville, at $125 an acre.
—The consumption of horse flesh in France, according to figures gathered, is constantly on the increase, in Paris alone there are six hundred meat shops, mainly in the poorer quarters, where horse flesh alone is sold, and the consumption now exceeds two hundred thousand animals a year. The Lutetians report that the increase is due quite as much to the growing increase of horse flesh for food as to its cheapness compared with beef, the price from ten to thirteen cents per pound being a powerful argument to the poor under the constantly increasing cost of living in France.

—Forty-five million eggs have been shipped into New York since April 1, and placed in cold storage by the warehousemen, to remain there until the high prices of last winter are duplicated. The eggs are mostly from Indiana, Michigan and Ohio. They were purchased at an average price of 23 to 24 cents. Two cents a dozen is added to cover insurance, storage, cost, etc., which brings the total up to about 25 cents a dozen. If the eggs can be retailed at 45 cents a dozen, as they were last winter, there will be a profit of 19 cents a dozen or a total of something over $700,000.

—A dispatch from Carlisle says:
The live stock market continues very active here. Richard Turley purchased a shipment of twenty-eight 1,100-pound steers at four and one-fourth cents. Gillispie & Son bought and shipped a carload of 1,200-pound cattle, for which they paid five cents.
Kerns & Henry bought and shipped a carload of cows, which cost them three and three-fourths cents. Myers & Whaley bought and shipped two carloads of lambs, for which they paid five and one-half cents. Ed Wilson bought and shipped thirty two head of 1,000-pound steers at cost of four and three-fourths cents. James W.
Myers bought and shipped a carload of fat cows at a cost of from three and one-half to four cents. Several other carload shipments of lambs were made to the Jersey City markets.

—Timely rainfalls during the last month have done much for crops in Kentucky, according to the report of M. G. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture covering every county in the State. The following is the report which is of interest to all farmers:
The rainfall during the month of August was not so great as that of the preceding month, but the rain came when they were badly needed. In some places there are a number of reports that they are needing rain badly.
Tobacco has shown considerable improvement, and corn has shown very marked improvement.
Totals for the State—average yield of wheat per acre, 11 bushels; average quality of wheat 78 per cent; condition of corn 75 per cent; average yield of potatoes per acre 65 bushels; average yield of oats per acre 22 bushels; prospect for barley tobacco 54 per cent;
prospect for dark tobacco 62 per cent;
condition of hemp 89 per cent; increase of livestock 14 per cent; average price of poultry per pound 10 cents; average price of eggs per dozen 14 cents.

—A dispatch from Des Moines, Iowa, Saturday, says: "Gen John L.
Castleman the noted Kentucky horseman, of Louisville, was one of the great features in the annual parade at the State Fair today.
"Gen. Castleman, with his famous saddle mare, Caroline, had been the guest of the State Fair Association all week, and every night he rode in the stock pavilion, where his magnificent horsemanship aroused the enthusiasm of thousands of horse lovers.
"His riding in the million-dollar stock parade this afternoon brought round after round of cheers from the thousands who witnessed the parade and races. As the General with the State officials came down the racetrack, Caroline seemed to keep perfect step to the martial music and as the mare changed from the single step to double the crowds cheered.
"Each night in the stock pavilion Gen. Castleman's riding was looked forward to as one of the great features of the evening's entertainment.
"Never in the history of the Iowa State Fair has such perfect horsemanship been seen either on the track or in the horse ring as was displayed by the famous Kentuckian. His riding was a revelation. Hundreds of horse breeders ask the honor of an introduction that they might personally congratulate him. He will ever be a welcome visitor to Iowa fairs."

Free Child's Remedy
What mother is not looking for something that will help her children in the little ills of life, something for the stomach trouble and the bowel trouble? Long ago she probably has become convinced that a child cannot readily swallow a pill or a tablet, and that to "break them in half and crush them" is an annoyance that usually they work too drastically, and are nauseating and too powerful for the little one's stomach.

Labor Day furnished two entertainments for the local fans and the law makes were the attraction at White Park both in the morning and afternoon of yesterday. The locals lost the first game, by a score of 5 to 3, which went for ten innings, after they had pounded big league aspirant Cornell all over the lot. Harrel pitched excellent ball until the tenth when he weakened and allowed the visitors to score the two winning runs.

The afternoon game went to the locals by a score of 5 to 2. Yerkes and Williams were the opposing pitchers, the latter having decidedly the best of the argument. In both the morning and afternoon games Scott was the star performer. Out of nine times up in the two games he hit safely seven times and played all over the short field. Score:

Nothing Succeeds Like Success.

This seems to be especially true of the performances to be seen nightly at the Paris Grand. Mr. Porter, the present manager, assumed control of the Grand some five months since under adverse circumstances. But by giving the people of Paris a continuation of good acts with always something new and surprising he has gained the confidence of the people, until now it is part of the daily routine of almost every family in Paris to attend the performances at the Grand.

During Fair week an especially good show is promised each night, besides a handsome present will be given away nightly. The show last night was a good one, and insures a big house for tonight. So if you are contemplating going it is advisable to go early and secure a seat. Besides the regular performance tonight there will be an added attraction for the benefit of those who are visiting in the city. A three-round boxing contest between "Young Ad Wolgast" and "Young Battling Nelson." A very handsome pair of vases will be given away to some lucky person in the audience.

Al. Fields' Minstrels at Lexington.

Paris theatre-goers will be interested in the announcement that Al. G. Fields' Greater Minstrels will be the attraction at the Lexington Opera House Wednesday, September 7, opening the season of big show at that theatre. Mr. Field has this season a bigger and better show than ever. With the veteran Doc Quigley as a leader, and the Kentucky whirlwind, Gov. Bowen, as a feature, he has a list of stars that are well known as the leading talent of minstrelsy. Among the features of the show is a travesty on "Chantecler" entitled "Cant-a-Cheer." It is said to be the funniest at now in minstrelsy.

This season's very elaborate first part, entitled "Minstrelsy in All Ages," will serve to introduce the revolution of minstrelsy in four scene presenting in the final transformation the pretentious Biblical epic spectacle, "David the Minstrel and His Harp of One Thousand Stings at the Court of Saul; "The Court of Momus," and American Minstrelsy, in all of which numbers the entire company of sixty-five singers and dancers will appear.

January Held to Grand Jury.

Dave January, charged with forcibly detaining against her will, Mrs. Virgie Gray, wife of Oscar Gray, was arraigned in the county court Saturday morning for his examining trial, and held to the November term of the Bourbon county grand jury.

A number of witnesses were introduced by both the Commonwealth and the defense to testify to the occurrence on last Monday afternoon. The county court room was crowded to overflowing.

Mrs. Gray, the chief witness for the prosecution, was the first called to the stand and she testified that January came to her home to purchase some green beans. She stated she told him to wait out in the yard while she went to the garden to get them. Up on returning she said the negro handed her the money for the beans and at the same time taking hold of her wrist and making an indecent proposal to her.

At this she said she wrenched herself free from the grasp of the negro, running into the house and out the rear door toward a field on the farm of Mr. J. W. Reynolds, where her husband was at work.

Frank Henson testified that Mrs. Gray passed through his field of tobacco on her way to her husband to notify him of the attempted outrage, and told him of the insulting language January had used toward her.

January took the stand and in detail contradicted the testimony of Mrs. Gray, declaring he did not touch her and that he said nothing to her out of the way. He gave an account of his whereabouts until Tuesday morning when he was arrested at 11 o'clock while at work in the tobacco field on Mr. H. G. Hopkins.

January was represented by Attorney Talbott & Whitley. After brief arguments by Attorney Whitley for the defendant and County Attorney Batterton for the Commonwealth, without attempting to reconcile the evidence, which appeared in conflict, Judge Dundon held January to the November grand jury.

Shot in the Head.

Saturday night John Bowen was shot in the left ear by Dan Menifee, the bullet lodging in the back of his neck. The difficulty took place in a room over a vacant business house on Main street and was the result of a dispute that arose during the progress of a game of seven-up. It is alleged that Menifee had borrowed a pistol from Bowen and that when the former started to leave the room Bowen asked for the weapon when a tussle ensued. In some way the revolver was discharged, the bullet passing through the flesh of Menifee's right arm and then striking Bowen in the head. Bystanders interfered and prevented further trouble. Menifee was later arrested by Patrolman Charles Thomas and locked up on the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

Yesterday in Police court Menifee gave bond in the sum of $200 for his appearance in court Wednesday morning.
